DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of the figure 7 species in the reply filed on 21 October 2009 is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-7, 14, 21 and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, line 29, there is no antecedent basis for "the automatic radial locking".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1, 2, 5, 6, 14 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Block (German publication 19952054).

Block discloses the invention substantially as is claimed, including a vehicle wiper (10, figs.1-4) comprised of a wiper blade (18) mounted to be articulated at a front longitudinal end (11) of a wiper arm (12) about a transverse axis by means of a plastic connector (34). The connector comprises a body (44) with hooks (36) on a lower face thereof for fixing to a structural element (32) and carries means of articulation with the end of the wiper arm on an upper surface. The wiper arm carries a web (38) horizontally above the connector and carries the means of articulation or pivot (40) on a lateral face of a first support (37). The connector defines a complementary housing (48) provided in a second associated support element belonging to the connector. The second support element defines elastically deformable elements or portions on each side of channel (51) to allow introduction of pivot (40). Longitudinal positioning means (58) extends transversely and is provided on the wiper arm. The connector includes at least one rib (generally at 49), the top surface of which can abut the bottom face of the web of the end of the wiper arm (see fig.2).

Block discloses all of the above recited subject matter with the exception of the support element(s) with the end of the wiper arm being of plastics material.

While Block does not disclose plastics for the material of the end of the wiper arm which includes support elements thereat, to make such of plastics would have been entirely obvious to one of skill in the art. Use of both plastics and metal materials to make components in the wiper arts is extremely well known. The selection of such appears more a choice of the manufacturer and the availability of materials than any inventive concept.

It would have been obvious to one of skill in the art to make the end of the wiper arm with the support thereon of Block of plastics, , as a mere choice of well known material, to provide a lightweight, corrosion resistant wiper arm end.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3, 4, 7 and 23 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
